Unless specified in the additional consideration space below, Resident(s) will pay all rent through the termination date and any lease break fee specified in the Rental Agreement. Resident(s) will remove all of his/her personal property and leave the Premises in the same condition as at move-in, normal wear and tear excepted. This constitutes a Notice to Vacate from Resident(s), which Owner/Agent hereby accepts and relies upon.

Except for obligations under this Mutual Release, Resident(s), on his/her own behalf and on behalf of any minor occupants of the Premises, hereby releases and satisfies all claims of whatever kind or nature, whether now known or unknown, Resident(s) and all minor occupants of the household have or may have against Owner/Agent, and its agents, employees, representatives, insurers, successors and assigns arising out of or related to the tenancy and/or the condition of the Premises.

Except for obligations under this Mutual Release, and as provided below, Owner/Agent hereby releases and satisfies all claims of whatever kind or nature, whether now known or unknown, Owner/Agent has or may have against Resident(s), and his/her successors and assigns arising out of or related to the tenancy. The parties have read this Mutual Release and understand that THIS IS A COMPLETE RELEASE OF ALL CLAIMS, including, but not limited to any claims related to habitability concerns regarding the Premises described above. There are no other promises or understandings between Owner/Agent and Resident(s) relating to the subject of this Mutual Release, except as set forth herein. The parties are entering into this Mutual Release of their own free will.

This is a release and settlement of disputed claims. By agreeing to this Mutual Release, the parties do not admit, and specifically deny, any liability to the other.
